

A MATTER OF TRUST

As umpires, have you ever considered the position of trust in which we have been placed?

Players, coaches and fans trust that we will call the game according to the rules, they trust that we will be fair, without concern as to who wins or loses, and they trust that regardless of who is playing, where the game is being played and the score of the game, we will give our very best effort.

We, as umpires, owe that to the game of baseball.

Good umpires understand this. It truly is a matter of trust.
